Welcome!

New Jersey truly is the "Garden State." With over 9,000 farms in New Jersey, agriculture continues to thrive in our densely populated state. We invite you to visit our New Jersey farms to see first hand the strong agricultural community that inspired our state's nickname "The Garden State."

On farm retail markets provide the freshest and best quality fruits and vegetables. At New Jersey farms you will find that our state grows everything from Apples to Zucchini. Jersey Fresh peaches, tomatoes and corn are among the favorites. New Jersey's harvest season is from May to November though many farm markets remain open year round, offering Christmas trees, holiday pies and gifts, seasonal plants and greenhouse-grown vegetables and flowers. Be a part of the harvest with Pick-Your-Own crops such as strawberries, blueberries, apples, pumpkins and even some vegetables. Choose locally grown flowers and plants to brighten your home gardens. Many farm markets also have delicious baked goods, pies, apple cider and tasty jams and jellies.

Farm markets offer fresh fruits and vegetables as well as host seasonal farm festivals, education programs and tours, and barnyards of animals. When visiting a farm market, tailgate market, CSA, local winery or community farmers market remember you are supporting agriculture - a healthier way of eating made easier by visiting local markets to purchase products and produce grown Jersey Fresh. Supporting locally grown produce helps the community and also makes for a healthier you. Using this brochure will help you find a market close to you and make it easier on your shopping needs. Several markets have a variety of unique and fun things to fill a day trip. It truly is a family fun day.

With the help of the New Jersey Farmers' Direct Marketing Association, we are thrilled to bring you this list of outstanding farms and their locations for the 2016 growing season!

Sincerely,

Bob
